2026 Spring Season Outlook: We have an amazing group of Juniors and Seniors that care deeply about the program and taking the new players under their wing since September. With the culture that we have, along with the playoff experience that the program has the last 3 years, this team has what it takes to compete for a National Championship. Going into the offseason, we planned to play a tough Non-Conference schedule to prepare us for the battle in the Gulf Coast East conference.

Manager Quote: Building off of our success last year with the returning players that we have and the new ones we brought in, we expect to have a competitive season based on 3 success factors: Attidue, Effort, and ability to be a Good Teammate.

2026 Spring Season Outlook: The LSU Club Baseball Team is rolling into the spring season with confidence, adding a lot more depth, and has a roster built to compete right away. With plenty of returning players, there were still plenty of key freshman additions who are going to impact the team immediately: Connor Donnelly, Harry Leche, Brandt Frey, Jake Moreci, and Ben Voegel. The experienced along with the new guys mesh perfectly together, ultimately making for a team that is hungry, talented, ready to prove themselves, and expect to make a run for the national title in 2026.

Suite 301
Pittsburgh, PA 15212
Office: (412) 321-8440

One of the biggest strengths of this year's squad is the immediate impact from the freshman, allowing for major depth in the lineup. More importantly though, most of these freshmen step into an already extremely deep pitching staff. With plenty of strike throwers like Andrew Powell, Gates Barre, and Preston Ocmund, the Tigers look to silence their opponent's offense. Offensively, the bats are rolling heading into the regular season. Returning powerhouses including Jaxon Simoneaux and Preston Ocmund look to lead a lineup of consistency with freshman adding energy throughout the lineup. Combined with strong pitching, depth, and an explosive offense, LSU looks forward to an exciting season of tough matchups, and opportunities to make a statement for an action packed 2026 spring.

Manager Quote: What is really impressive about this team is how everybody is buying into the program. Veterans are leading, freshmen are stepping up, and everyone understands their role. That's how winning teams are built.

2026 Spring Season Outlook: After a hefty amount of returners and a strong incoming class, it seems the only thing standing in the way of the Club Dawgs making a run, is the rain. As long as weather holds up, Mississippi State has the pieces they need to make a solid run in the NCBA. As the team played games and scrimmages throughout the fall, Mississippi State Club Baseball gave a preview of what is to come this spring. The Club Dawgs displayed elite arm talent paired with outstanding defense all around the
